2. Annual Surveillance Audit Fee

Annual surveillance audits are required to maintain compliance with certification standards. Fees are determined by factors like the size of the organization, the audit scope, and any additional requirements, including audits for multiple locations or additional auditors.

3. Recertification Audit Fee

At the end of each certification cycle, a recertification audit is required to renew certification. This fee covers the complete reassessment necessary to validate ongoing compliance, including an annual licensing fee to keep certification active.

4. Fee Determination Factors

Fees are customized for each organization based on factors including:

- Scope of certification, covering the products, services, or processes involved.
- The complexity of operations is determined by the size and detail of the processes involved.
- Additional facilities, with extra audit fees for multiple locations.

5. Transparent Cost Estimate Process

Following a preliminary evaluation, IHC ensures all financial commitments are clear before proceeding. This transparency promotes clarity and mutual agreement on fees.

6. Payment Terms and Additional Charges

Fees are payable before each stage of the certification process. Application fees are non-refundable. Additional charges will be applicable on scope extension and product addition.

7. Policy Updates

IHC occasionally examines and updates its fee policy according to economic, governmental and operational circumstances. Clients are promptly informed of any modifications to the fee policy, ensuring transparency and maintaining our commitment to effective communication.
